

Chapter 2 section 8 discusses classification of critical points in \mathbb{R}^n . This process is significantly longer than the previously covered lower dimensional procedures, especially when constraints are added to the function.

It has been a long time since I last saw eigenvalues, so that took some reviewing to get me up to speed.
